Dr. Jason Andress is a most prolific text book author of cyber security related content. He graduated from CTU with a Doctor of Computer Science (DCS) and subsequently worked as a principal engineer at Oracle while teaching in the CTU program. He has authored several IA-related books including these three from the most recent three years and which he published while on our faculty: